

Your home. Clearer decisions.

A one-hour Google Meet consultation with Sourabh Jain
INR 6,500, including taxes

Two ways to start

1. Free call with the Houme India team. Choose this if you want to understand the process, fees, deliverables and how to book the paid consultation. The free 15-minute call is with our support team; it does not include a design consultation with Sourabh.

2. Proceed with the INR 6,500 consultation. Choose this if you already understand the service. You will still receive a free call from the team. Your chosen Setmore time is that team callback, not the Google Meet session with Sourabh.

Your expert appointment is confirmed manually

The team explains the process and collects your project material. Sourabh reviews it to confirm whether he can help. The team then coordinates payment and manually confirms the paid-session appointment, subject to availability. Advance payment is required before the paid session. Selecting a callback time does not confirm an expert slot.

Read this guide before your team callback and keep it for your paid session.

Help us understand your home.

Share your project material with the team

- Your existing floor plan and plot or land details.
- Clear site images and relevant videos, including the under-construction site where applicable.
- Your project stage, main constraints and the decisions you need help making.
- Your priority questions, so the most important topics are covered first.

Take and share Vastu directions

The team will explain how to take the directions of your home. Follow their instructions and send the directions with your project material. Ask the team if anything is unclear rather than guessing.

Suitability review comes before the consultation

Sourabh reviews the information you provide and confirms whether the consultation can help with your requirements. The team communicates the next steps and confirms your appointment manually. Slots are generally booked in advance, so please allow time for scheduling.

Prepare for Google Meet

Use a stable internet connection and a device on which you can clearly see plans and sketches. Keep your plans, questions and relevant project documents accessible. Be ready to discuss your family, routines, storage needs and priorities.

Payment and appointment questions

The paid hour costs INR 6,500 including taxes. Confirm payment instructions, cancellation or rescheduling terms, and any additional-session charges with the team before paying. The team shares the confirmed Google Meet arrangements.

Independent guidance, based on your life.

Sourabh connects with you directly on Google Meet. He asks about your family and around ten project-related questions to understand how you want to live, your construction stage and the decisions ahead.

What you can discuss

- Your existing plan, room arrangements, furniture placement, storage and making better use of space.
- Vastu considerations alongside the existing building structure and practical constraints.
- Questions and uncertainties about building your home, including kitchen and interior decisions.
- Project budgets, contractor proposals or contracts, and questions to take back to your builder, contractor, architect or interior designer.

Sourabh works as an independent consultant, separate from your local project team. His role is to help you make informed decisions and communicate your requirements clearly. Any structural alterations need appropriate assessment and execution by your local qualified professionals; the session does not supply structural engineering designs or certifications. Contract discussion is practical project guidance, not a formal legal opinion.

Prioritize what matters most

You can ask your own questions directly. The detail covered depends on your project and the time available. One hour is not a promise to complete every room or resolve an unlimited list of questions.

Need more time?

An extension may be possible depending on availability and agreed charges. You can also contact the team to book another session at the next available time. Extra time is not automatically included in the INR 6,500 fee.

What you keep. What comes next.

Included in your consultation

- The recording of your Google Meet consultation, so you can revisit the discussion.
- Copies of the sketches actually made during the session.
- The sizes, placements, furniture types and other annotations discussed and marked during your session.

The team shares the recording and session sketches after the call. Confirm the delivery arrangements with the team. Your deliverables reflect what was actually discussed and created during the meeting.

Not included

No formal drawing set is provided. Creating a formal floor plan, electrical plan, plumbing plan, complete interior design or architectural design package is outside this consultation. New drawings, revisions, additional design work or ongoing advice after the meeting are not included.

Who formalizes and implements the ideas?

Hire a local designer, architect or draftsman to turn the consultation guidance and sketches into the formal drawings your project requires. Your local professionals should verify site measurements, technical requirements and implementation details.

Common questions

Is the free call with Sourabh?

No. Houme India's support team explains the paid-service process. The consultation with Sourabh is paid.

Does selecting the paid route give me an immediate expert slot?

No. A free team callback, material review and manual appointment confirmation still come first.

Can I return with more questions?

Yes. Contact the team about an extension or another paid session, subject to availability. Please be patient because slots are generally booked in advance.
